HEXAGRAM 52 – Ken - Keeping Still, Mountain

Above KEN KEEPING STILL, MOUNTAIN

Below KEN KEEPING STILL, MOUNTAIN

The image of this hexagram is the mountain, the youngest son of

- heaven and
- earth.

The male principle is at the top,

- because it strives upward by nature;

the female principle is below,

- since the direction of its movement is downward.

Thus

there is rest

- because the movement has come to its normal end.

In its application to man, the hexagram turns upon the problem of achieving a quiet heart.

It is very difficult to bring quiet to the heart.

While Buddhism strives for rest through an ebbing away of all movement in nirvana, the Book of Changes holds that

- rest is merely a state of polarity that always posits movement as its complement.

Possibly the words of the text embody directions for the practice of yoga.

THE JUDGMENT

KEEPING STILL.

Keeping his back still

So that he no longer feels his body.

He

- goes into his courtyard And
- does not see his people.

No blame.

True quiet means

- keeping still when the time has come to keep still, and
- going forward when the time has come to go forward.

In this way

- rest and movement are in agreement with the demands of the time, and thus
- there is light in life.

The hexagram signifies the end and the beginning of all movement.

The back is named because in the back are located all the nerve fibers that mediate movement.

If

- the movement of those spinal nerves is brought to a standstill,
- the ego, with its restlessness, disappears as it were.

When

a man has thus become calm, he may turn to the outside world.

- He no longer sees in it the struggle and tumult of individual beings, and therefore
- he has that true peace of mind which is needed
 - for understanding the great laws of the universe and
 - for action, in harmony with them.

Whoever

- acts from these deep levels
- makes no mistakes.

THE IMAGE

Mountains standing close together: The image of KEEPING STILL.
Thus the superior man
Does not permit his thoughts To go beyond his situation.

1The heart thinks constantly.
This cannot be changed,
but the movements of the heart - that is,
a man's thoughts -
should restrict themselves to the immediate situation.
All thinking that goes beyond this only makes the heart sore.

THE LINES

Nine in the third place means:
Keeping his hips still.
Making his sacrum stiff.
Dangerous.
The heart suffocates.

This refers to enforced quiet.
The restless heart is to be subdued by forcible means.
But fire when it is smothered changes into acrid smoke that suffocates as it spreads.
Therefore, in exercises in meditation and concentration, one

- ought not to try to force results.

Rather,

- calmness must develop naturally out of a state of inner composure.

If

- one tries to induce calmness by means of artificial rigidity,
- meditation will lead to very unwholesome results.

Nine at the top means:
Noble hearted keeping still.
Good fortune.

This marks the consummation of the effort to attain tranquility.

- One is at rest, not merely in a small, circumscribed way
 - in regard to matters of detail, but

- one has also a general resignation
 - in regard to life as a whole,

and this confers peace and good fortune in relation to every individual matter.

HEXAGRAM 02 - K'un – The Receptive

Above K'UN THE RECEPTIVE, EARTH

Below K'UN THE RECEPTIVE, EARTH

This hexagram is made up of broken lines only.

The broken line represents the dark, yielding, receptive primal power of yin.

The attribute of the hexagram is devotion;

its image is the earth.

It is the perfect complement of THE CREATIVE - the complement, not the opposite,

1

for the Receptive does not combat the Creative but complements it.

It represents

- nature in contrast to spirit,
- earth in contrast to heaven,
- space as against time,
- the female-maternal as against the male-paternal.

However, as applied to human affairs,

the principle of this complementary relationship is found

- not only in the relation between man and woman,
- but also in that between prince and minister and
- between father and son.

Indeed, even in the individual this duality appears in the coexistence of

- the spiritual world and
- the world of the senses.

But strictly speaking there is no real dualism here, because there is a clearly defined hierarchic relationship between the two principles.

In itself of course the Receptive is just as important as the Creative, but the attribute of devotion defines the place occupied by this primal power in relation to the Creative.

For the Receptive must be activated and led by the Creative; then it is productive of good.

Only when it abandons this position and tries to stand as an equal side by side with the Creative, does it become evil.
The result then is opposition to and struggle against the Creative,
which is productive of evil to both.

THE JUDGMENT

THE RECEPTIVE brings about sublime success,
Furthering through the perseverance of a mare.
If the superior man undertakes something and tries to lead,
He goes astray;
But if he follows, he finds guidance
It is favorable to find friends in the west and south,
To forego friends in the east and north.
Quiet perseverance brings good fortune.

The four fundamental aspects of the Creative –
"sublime success, furthering through perseverance"- are also attributed to the Receptive.

Here, however, the perseverance is more closely defined: it is that of a mare.

The Receptive connotes spatial reality in contrast to the spiritual potentiality of the Creative.

The potential becomes real and the spiritual becomes spatial through a specifically qualifying definition.

Thus the qualification, "of a mare," is here added to the idea of perseverance.

The horse belongs to earth just as the dragon belongs to heaven.

Its tireless roaming over the plains is taken as a symbol of the vast expanse of the earth.

This is the symbol chosen because the mare combines

- the strength and swiftness of the horse with
- the gentleness and devotion of the cow.

Only because nature in its myriad forms corresponds with the myriad impulses of the Creative can it make these impulses real.

Nature's richness lies in its power to nourish all living things;

its greatness lies in its power to give them beauty and splendor.

Thus it prospers all that lives.

It is the Creative that begets things, but they are brought to birth by the Receptive.

Applied to human affairs, therefore,

what the hexagram indicates is action in conformity with the situation.

The person in question is not in an independent position, but is acting as an assistant.

This means that he must achieve something.

It is not his task to try to lead - that would only make him lose the way - but to let him be led.

If he knows how to meet fate with an attitude of acceptance, he is sure to find the right guidance.

The superior man

- lets himself be guided;
- he does not go ahead blindly,
- but learns from the situation what is demanded of him and
- then follows this intimation from fate.

Since there is something to be accomplished, we need friends and helpers in the hour of toil and effort, once the ideas to be realized are firmly set.

The time of toil and effort is indicated by the west and the south, for west and south symbolize the place where the Receptive works for the Creative, as nature does in summer and autumn.

If in that situation one does not mobilize all one's powers, the work to be accomplished will not be done.

Hence to find friends there means to find guidance.

But in addition to the time of toil and effort, there is also a time of planning, and for this we need solitude.

The east symbolizes the place where a man receives orders from his master and the north the place where he reports on what he has done.

At that time he must be alone and objective.

In this sacred hour

- he must do without companions so that
- the purity of the moment may not be spoiled by factional hates and favoritism.

THE IMAGE

The earth's condition is receptive devotion.

Thus the superior man who has breadth of character carries the outer world.

Just as there is only one heaven, so too there is only one earth.

In the hexagram of the heaven the (doubling, of the trigram implies duration in time, but in the hexagram of earth the doubling connotes the solidity and extension in space by virtue of which the earth is able to carry and preserve all things that live and move upon it.

The earth in its devotion carries all things, good and evil, without exception.

In the same way the superior man gives to his character breadth, purity, and sustaining power,

so that he is able both

- to support and
- to bear with people and things.
